It is not known to us and Instagram / Facebook does not provide a conclusive and clear statements in what way it uses the data from visits to Instagram pages for its own purposes, to what extent activities on the Instagram page are assigned to individual users, how long Instagram stores this data and whether data from a visit to the Instagram page is passed on to third parties.

When accessing an Instagram page, the IP address assigned to your terminal device is transmitted to Instagram. According to Instagram, this IP address is anonymised (for "German" IP addresses). Furthermore, Instagram stores information about the terminal devices of its users (e.g. as part of the "registration notification"). This may enable Instagram to assign IP addresses to individual users.

If you are currently logged into Instagram as a user, a cookie with your Instagram ID is stored on your terminal device. This allows Instagram to track that you have visited this page and how you have used it. This also applies to all other Instagram pages. Instagram buttons embedded in web pages enable Instagram to record your visit to these web pages and assign them to your Instagram profile. Based on this data, content or advertisement can be offered tailored to you.

If you want to avoid this, you should log out of Instagram or disable the “stay logged in” feature, delete the cookies that are on your device, exit and restart your browser. This deletes Instagram information that can be used to directly identify you. This allows you to use our Instagram page without revealing your Instagram ID. Once you have logged in, you will again be visible again as a specific user to Instagram.
